Emphasis has been placed on military training in schools. All students are encouraged to take courses dealing with industrial techniques so they can help increase production. They will thus be prepared to defend the island and also help sustain the island's livelihood if the island becomes isolated by enemy action.

Two organizations, one for internal security and the other for defense, were established and will operate officially after 1 September. These organizations are the Taiwan Provincial Peace Preservation Headquarters and the Taiwan Provincial Garrison Headquarters. The former will supervise all military police, civilian police, and peace preservation corps units in Taiwan. The latter will direct all military troops in the defense of Taiwan and the Pescadores.

Officials appointed for the Peace Preservation Headquarters are: Commander in Chief, P'eng Yu-sh'ih (Ueda: 3113, 3733, 206); Deputy Commander, Cheng Ping-ju (12229, 664, 2031), and Chief of Staff, Chi Li-p'o (4735, 8354, 4850).

For the Garrison Headquarters, the sole appointee thus far known is Lt Gen Sun Li-jen. Other appointments and the organization of this office are expected to be announced in a week or so.
